British Egg Industry Council

The Lion Training Passport is an industry led partnership between the British Egg Industry Council, Poultec Training and Lantra. The partnership was established to develop minimum training requirements for each role of the UK Lion egg sector and develop an online training recording system.

Persons employed on UK Lion egg farms or hatcheries can register onto the Lion Training Passport. Based on their role, a minimum training requirement is defined. Individuals attend approved training sessions to meet these minimum requirements. Training sessions can be delivered in-house or by approved training organisations. Evidence of attendance is presented to the scheme administrators who update the individuals training record.

Level	Level 1	Level 2	Level 3

The Lion Training Passport system can allow employees, employers and subscribers to view training records via a secure website. The system reporting allows users to view training completed and identify any gaps or where refresher training is required. Any training can be recorded onto a Lion Training Passport, providing a single secure location of your managed training records.
